Determining whether an applicant is a Local Organization
TB REACH is currently being guided by the regulations of the main donor for this call for proposals – USAID – Which state that you must meet all of these below criteria:
• Be organized under the laws of the recipient country;
• Have its principal place of business in the recipient country;
• Be majority owned by individuals who are citizens or lawful permanent residents of the recipient country or be managed by a governing body, the majority of whom are citizens or lawful permanent residents of a recipient country; and
• Not be controlled by a foreign entity or by an individual or individuals who are not citizens or permanent residents of the recipient country. The term "controlled by" means a majority ownership or beneficiary interest as defined above, or the power, either directly or indirectly, whether exercised or exercisable, to control the election, appointment, or tenure of the organization’s managers or a majority of the organization’s governing body by any means, e.g., ownership, contract, or operation of law. "Foreign entity" means an organization that fails to meet any part of the "local organization" definition.

As you can imagine, we are unable to independently verify if all applicants meet these criteria during the applications process with hundreds of applications, so we rely on each applicants careful reading of the criteria and honest decisions. All applications will be checked by multiple reviewers as well that TB REACH Secretariat and USAID country and HQ offices. The ultimate decision will rest with the proposal review committee in case of uncertainties.

We suggest you provide background information to support your application if you think there is a potential for questioning your eligibility.

As a final note - these eligibility requirements are similar to the ones used by USAID in their LON call for TB proposals – so if you have gone through that process then you can use the same outcome.
